

MEMORANDUM

To: Social Security Advisory Board
Subject: Patrick O'Carroll, Inspector General, SSA
Date: June 15, 2015

Patrick O'Carroll has served as the third Inspector General for the Social Security Administration (SSA) since November 24, 2004. Prior to joining the Agency, he had 24 years of experience with the United States Secret Service. Pat has a B.S. from Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland, and a Masters in Forensic Science from the George Washington University, Washington, D.C

The Office of Inspector General (OIG) is responsible for meeting the statutory mission of promoting economy, efficiency and effectiveness in the administration of SSA programs and operations and to prevent and detect fraud, waste, abuse, and mismanagement in such programs and operations. OIG directs, conducts and supervises a comprehensive program of audits, evaluations and investigations, relating to SSA's programs and operations. Also searches for and reports systemic weaknesses in SSA programs and operations, and makes recommendations for needed improvements and corrective actions.

Mr. O'Carroll will be discussing the issues surrounding the Death Master File and representative payees. He will also address disability solvency topics and increasing the number of CDI units.

MEMORANDUM

To: Social Security Advisory Board
Subject: Gale Stone, Deputy Inspector General, SSA
Date: June 15, 2015

Gale Stallworth Stone was appointed to the position of Deputy Inspector General on February 24, 2013. In this capacity, Mrs. Stone provides leadership and guidance in the planning, policy and program development and management of the Office of the Inspector General (OIG).

Mrs. Stone has been a part of the Social Security Administration's OIG since its inception in March 1995. She previously held various positions at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) OIG. Since 1995, Mrs. Stone has held a number of leadership positions within the SSA OIG and was selected as a member of the Senior Executive Staff in 2000. Most recently, she served as the Deputy Assistant Inspector General for Audit, with primary responsibility for financial and information technology audits. She is also currently serving a 4-year appointment to the Information Security and Privacy Advisory Board, which advises the National Institute of Standards and Technology.

Mrs. Stone began her 29-year Federal career as a cooperative education student in the Birmingham, Alabama office of the HHS OIG. Over the years, Mrs. Stone has received numerous awards, including a 1996 Hammer Award, a 2002 Inspector General Award, and recognition from the former President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency including a 2004 Glenn Roth Award, a 2006 Award for Excellence, and a 2007 Barry Snyder PCIE/ECIE Joint Award.
